Our travelers say:

“It was like a weeklong art history course. Wonderful. I always tell people I’m a Sun Devil!”

— Cynthia Sabatini
Mediterranean Collage, Go Next 2019

“Wow! What a trip! This truly was a trip of a lifetime. Egypt has always been at the top of my bucket list. I was thrilled from the moment I got the brochure about this trip. It was a no-brainer for me to go, and it exceeded all my expectations. My simple advice to all ASU travelers: Go to Egypt!”

— Elizabeth (Bette) Taylor ’74
Legends of the Nile, AHI Travel 2016

“The cruise was great ... I had a nice room with a veranda and enjoyed ‘the views’ ... The food was abundant and always very good. The excursions were varied, interesting and fun — including three wineries; a tour of Portland, Oregon; and a wonderful art museum. There were abundant activities on the ship itself ... and a program featuring Broadway show tunes.”

— Rick Aniskiewicz ’72
Wines of the Pacific Northwest, Go Next Travel 2018

Send us your best shot!

Your ASU Travel & Tours photo could be a winner!

It's this simple: Send us your best shot from your recent trip, and we'll enter it into our photo contest for ASU prizes and featured inclusion in digital and printed ASU Alumni materials, including next year's version of this tour book!

We'll be looking for visually compelling photos of your trip: landscapes that astound, pictures that tell a story of your journey and anything that displays your Devil-of-a-good time experience traveling with ASU Travel & Tours.

For more details and information, call us at 480-965-4034. Then, get ready to travel, tour, take pictures and send us your best shot to asutrael@asu.edu.

Check out our 7 tips for picture-perfect travel photos you'll be proud to share:

1 Stay inspired.

Be on the lookout for photos that inspire you, and critique them on why they work. When you're on vacation, give your favorite compositions or techniques a try.

2 Tell a story. Taking photos of key moments during your trip — the contents of your suitcase, a great meal or view from the airplane on your return — will help tell the story of your adventure.

3 Capture candid moments. Posing group shots are great, but photos that capture real emotion are always stronger. Take the time to capture a genuine laugh or expression for meaningful images.

4 Take charge. Eye-catching photo compositions don't just happen. Experiment by shifting your perspective, body or subjects to achieve the best framing.

5 Don't stress about scenic shots. Remember, you can usually find postcards that capture that perfect landscape. If you're not a pro, focus instead on capturing the scene from a unique perspective or including companions in the frame.

6 Get close. Zoom in. Look at patterns, texture and detail and walk up to your subjects. Vary your focal distance to ensure you end up with a dynamic set of pictures. Don't forget to photograph the details that make the destination different from home.

7 Get in the shot! Set the timer or

General information

Travel and tour brochures

Brochures for each trip, with detailed itinerary and reservation information, will be mailed as they are available. Brochures generally are printed eight to 10 months prior to the trip's departure, though often you can register for a trip before the brochure is printed. Please note that all pricing is subject to change until the brochure is printed.

Single travelers

For those travelers who prefer to room alone, most tours offer a limited number of single rooms. Those requesting a single room may be charged a supplemental fee. Those trips that waive the single supplement fee are noted in the brochure.

Travelers with special needs

Any traveler with physical and/or medical restrictions must communicate special needs at the time the reservation is made. Participants requiring assistance must be accompanied by a helper capable of and totally responsible for providing the required attention and assistance. Most trips involve walking. Please check with us or the tour company to determine if a trip is right for you.

ASU representative

An ASU faculty or staff member may travel with your tour to add specific knowledge and expertise. An ASU professor usually will provide a series of lectures during the trip to enhance your experience. Whether or not a faculty or staff member joins the trip is dependant on a minimum number of ASU travelers registered for the trip. Faculty may also be provided by a partner school.

Refund and cancellation policies

Each of our partner tour companies sets its own cancellation and refund policies. Please consult the individual trip brochure for cancellation policies and call the tour operator directly.

Insurance coverage

As a benefit of traveling with ASU Travel & Tours, all confirmed passengers will receive travel insurance information. We suggest that you check with your medical insurance company to determine whether you are covered when travelling outside the United States. Pre-existing conditions can be covered through the insurance we offer. Please note: There is a 15-day window from the date of your deposit to the date you receive coverage for preexisting conditions. USI Travel insurance provides exclusive discounts to ASU travelers. More information can be found by calling 1-800-937-1387 or visiting select. travelinsure.com.
